Jack Corrigan

Summary

Enterprising writer with 5+ years of research and reporting experience, solid data analysis skills, and a deep interest in the technologies, regulations and economic policies that are reshaping our world

Experience

Georgetown University (Center for Security and Emerging Technology)   Washington, D.C.
Research Analyst   February 2021 – Present

- Propose/research/write/edit policy papers on issues related to the tech workforce, U.S.-China competition, industrial policy, patents, and the innovation ecosystem
- Analyze/visualize open source and proprietary data using SQL, MS Excel and Datawrapper
- Build relationships with officials in the White House, Defense Department and other federal agencies
- Present research findings in media interviews, private briefings, public panels and conferences
- Write and pitch op-eds for various outlets (e.g. Foreign Policy, The Hill, International Higher Education)

Freelance   Washington, D.C.
Writer/Researcher/Editor   August 2020 – Present

- Contributed to a variety of projects, including a report on the political tech industry and a proposal for a book about human space colonization

Book Collaborator   December 2019 – August 2020

- Outlined/researched/wrote The Raging 2020s (Holt) alongside former State Department advisor Alec Ross
- Drafted chapters covering antitrust policy, political governance, lobbying, tax havens, organized labor, and the intersection between emerging technology and national security
- Interviewed heads of state, Fortune 500 executives, diplomats, activists and leading scholars
- Hired/managed a three-person team of freelance researchers

Atlantic Media (Nextgov)   Washington, D.C.
Staff Correspondent   February 2018 – November 2019
Editorial Fellow   July 2017 – January 2018

- Pitched/wrote daily news and enterprise stories on artificial intelligence, cybersecurity and tech policy
- Developed sources within federal agencies, congressional offices and tech companies
- Researched/analyzed government programs, contracts and datasets
- Moderated panels at company events and hosted episodes of Critical Update, Nextgov's podcast

Other Experience

- DataMade, Intern (January 2017 – March 2017; Chicago, Ill.)
- Graphiq Inc., Editorial Intern (June 2016 – October 2016; Santa Barbara, Calif.)
- Medill News Service, Reporter (January 2016 – March 2016; Washington, D.C.)
- Northwestern Magazine, Editorial Intern (January 2015 – December 2016; Evanston, Ill.)

Skills

Technical: SQL, MS Excel, Datawrapper, HTML, CSS, G Suite, Adobe Creative Suite
Personal: Critical thinking, communication, adaptability, collaboration, organization
Other: Data visualization, WordPress, AP Style, web design, social media, image/video editing

Education

Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University   Graduated June 2017
Bachelor of Science, Journalism   GPA: 3.6 / 4.0
Bachelor of Arts, Economics